Hey Kevin,

I got another load of strains to deposit. They are 53 N. discreta strains from a phylogenetic study that Jeremy Dettman and I have done. They are a continuation of the D-series that we worked on for previous phylogenetic analysis.

Attached is a spreadsheet with the strain information. Most are single conidium subcultures from P strains. The rest are wild strains I have collected; none of these have been previously deposited. I plan to mail them off either tomorrow or Monday.

Will you please send me the numbers you assign for them. It is one of the few things left to make the manuscript complete.

Hope all is well as winter approaches.

Cheers,
Dave
